Premier's assembly

BY DEAN LEBRON
 Victorian Premier Daniel Andrews, government ministers and advisors will join community and industry leaders in Hobart tonight to explore ways to drive and stimulate the regional economy.

Mr Andrews has confirmed he will attend a leadership summit around Victorian Southern Malles Regional Assembly, which starts at 6.30pm at Hobart Town Hall.

The Premier and his ministers will also see the visit to intensive region leading to key agricultural road projects as well as Victorian Infrastructure Freight Network at 10pm.

There were heavy speculation last night the government would also announce a series for a renewed grant series of resilience and tourism development projects.

Other ministers attending the assembly include Julia Pallant, Agriculture and Regional Development, Caroline Spence, Special Minister of State, and Attorney General Martin Pakula.

Mr Andrews said in a prepared statement: "I am excited to be in the Victorian southern Malles to listen to the local community, and to make sure we are getting things right for this community."

The State Government launched the statewide regional partnerships last year to secure regional potential and directly fund priority areas for long-term development.

Victorian Southern Malles Regional Assembly deputy chair James Scragg said tonight's assembly would open to about gathering input for will generating further understanding of priority issues and investigating new projects and opportunities.

"Part of the assembly will be dedicated to the resilience and wellbeing of established practices, but it will also be about continuing to explore what else is needed to raise other opportunities we can identify," he said.

"I encourage everyone who attends to have their thinking open, to be prepared to explore ideas on how as a region we can shape the future. This is our chance to have a say. We're after big ideas to rolling it off the table."

Victorian Southern Malles priorities identified as an ongoing regional priority last year were: Early start and access to education, access to infrastructure, infrastructure, including transport, health and digital connectivity, encouraging a diversified economy, greater access to essential services, energy and environment, social well-being, community and health.
